MEMPHIS LAWYERS

In Atlendance on the United States Su preme Court. WASHINGTON, January 18 .- Messrs. Chas. W. Metcalf, of the law firm of Metcalf & Walker, of Memphis, and W. K. Poston are here to oppose each other in the case of Freeman 2. Dawson, which has been transferred from the Tennessee courts to the United States Supreme Court. The case, the afterneys expect, will be called up for hearing to-morrow.

The House Committee on Private Land Claims unanimously agreed to report favorably a bill for the relief of Myra Clarke Gaines. It provides for the issue of patents to Mrs. Gaines for 38,457 acres of land on account of grants made by Spain to John Lynd and Thos. Urquehart, from whom the claimant received the title, provided that no mineral lands will be included in the grant. W. Metcalf, of the law firm of Metcalf & up for hearing to-morrow.

story that the cause of John McLean's hatred for and hostility to Senator Pendleton's claughter to marry McLean, or Senator Pendleton's refusal to permit his daughter to marry McLean, or Senator Pendleton's refusal to permit his daughter to marry McLean, well, there's nothing in it, and I'll tell you how I know. About a month ago the Democratic Congressmen from Ohio and Senator Pendleton's committee on Appropriations in charge of the House Committee on Appropriations in charge of the legislative and judicial appropriation bill met to-night to look over the estimates. Mr. Holman says an examination will be made of the work of the various government officers affected by the bill, and where an increase of help or compensation is necessary it will be granted. On the other hand, when the number of employes or compensation can be cut down, such action will be taken. Holman says in the majority of offices the latter is the capitol. We talked about the situation in Ohio, and of course about the situation in Ohio, and of course McLean's hostility to Pendleton was mentioned. The cause of it was also discussed. One man suggested one thing and another man something else, until finally one gentleman said directly to Senator Pendleton: 'I have beard that John McLean is opposed to you because you refused him admission to your house when he came to see your daughter.' 'I have never refused John McLean adapplied for it. He has never called at my house to see my daughter, and I don't thin't my daughter and John McLean are even acquainted. There is absolutely no foundation for that story."
"I think," continued Mr. Hurd, "that senator Pendleton added that he was as about McLean's blighted matrimonial hopes is not new. It was circulated in Ohio six months ago, and I always supposed, until the Senator made his denial, that this was the reason for McLean's opposition. I don't know of any reason for

The Proposed Reinlintory Measures Defeated in the Committee. Washington, January 18.—The House Committee on Commerce discused the House proposed measures for retaliation against the prohibition of American hog roducts by France and Germany. The ab-committee, consisting of Clardy, Long and Davis, appointed to consider the subject, reported favorably, with several mendations, the joint resolution of ownshead, which authorizes the Presi-ent, in his discretion, to prohibit the imortation of goods reported by experts as in-arious, when foreign countries prohibited importation of American goods said to deleterious to health. Messrs. Reagan, nn and Stewart opposed action in the absence of any communication from the Secretary of State. Mr. Dunn insisted that sufficient information was not at the salary of the chancellor, purchasing hand to properly consider the measure, and seemed to doubt the propriety of action. He indicated that the fact might exist which authorizes the action taken by foreign governments, and in connection with this idea favored the government inspection of meats. Mr. Reagan believed that facts existed which justify passage of such a measure, bu the correspondence between the United States and France and Germany ould be examined in order that intellishould be szamined in order that intelligent action might be taken Long, Clardy, Davis [181.], Turner [Ky.], and Peters favored immediate action. Clardy said all the information necessary had been given by the Secretary of State, the former report showing the existence of discrimination by the consul at Frankfort-on-the-Main, and Minister Sargent had not only leading to the consultation of the consultat tion by the consul at Frankfort-on-the-Main, and Minister Sargent had not only called the attention of the government to the fact that the action of Germany was without warrant and a mere subterfuge or pretext to evade treaty stipulations, but also the German people, as shown by the procedure in the Reichstag, knew it was meent to pretect their own park production, and not resorted to for sanitary purposes.
